Notes 1

What is Jobseeker's Allowance?

Jobseeker's Allowance is a social security benefit for people who are seeking work.

Jobseeker's Allowance has 2 parts

Contribution-based

Everyone must give us the information we need for this.

Income-based

You must choose whether or not to claim this. If you have a partner, you may both have to claim. See Notes 2.

Contribution-based

if you have paid enough National Insurance contributions

Contribution-based Jobseeker's Allowance is a flat-rate amount for you as an individual.

You could get it for up to 6 months.

Contribution-based Jobseeker's Allowance is based on how much National Insurance you have paid in the last two relevant tax years.

Generally, self-employed contributions will not help you qualify for contribution-based Jobseeker's Allowance.

If you do not qualify on your United Kingdom (UK) NI contributions and you have worked outside the UK, this period of employment may help you qualify.

Ask for form JSA31.

The amount may be reduced if you get

- other social security benefits
- earnings from part-time work
- a personal or occupational pension
- a public service pension.

But it is not affected by savings or by any money your partner has coming in.

Fill in the answer boxes under You on pages 1 to 15. Then go to Part 17.

Income-based

if you do not have enough money coming in

Income-based Jobseeker's Allowance is money for

- you and your partner, if you have one
- certain housing costs
- special needs. For example, if you or a member of your family have a disability.

Claim this

- if you think you will not qualify for the contribution-based part or that it will not be enough to live on
- to get money for your partner
- to get help with your housing costs.

You may get income-based Jobseeker's Allowance if

- you and your partner, if you have one, have savings of £16,000 or less

- your partner, if you have one, works less than 24 hours a week
- the money you have coming in each week is less than the amount of Jobseeker's Allowance you could get.

We use partner to mean

- a person you are married to or a person you live with as if you are married to them, or
- a civil partner or a person you live with as if you are civil partners.

The amounts you get may be reduced if you or anyone you are claiming for has

- savings over £6,000
- money coming in each week. This could be
 - earnings from part-time work
 - other social security benefits
 - personal or occupational pensions.

Which parts of this form do I fill in?

If you are not sure what to do...

Fill in all parts of the form that apply to you and your partner, if you have one.

Notes 2: If you have a partner

Does my partner have to claim as well?

In certain cases, if you or your partner want to claim income-based Jobseeker's Allowance, you both have to claim together on this form. We call this a joint claim and both of you have equal responsibility for it.

We use partner to mean

- a person you are married to or a person you live with as if you are married to them, or
- a civil partner or a person you live with as if you are civil partners.

What making a joint claim means

Making a joint claim means that you and your partner

- are both responsible for sharing the information and answering the questions on this form
- must both sign the Declaration at Part 19.

You and your partner must answer all the questions on the form that apply to you. We will give information about the claim to both of you.

Notes 3: How much you could get

For more information about Jobseeker's Allowance rates we use, please ask for our leaflet Benefit and Pension rates. This is available from Jobcentre Plus. You can also view the Jobseeker's Allowance benefit rates by visiting the DWP website.

The Jobseeker's Allowance rates usually change each April.

Do we have to make a joint claim?

Do you have a partner and no dependent children or qualifying young persons?

We use child to mean a person aged under 16 who you are getting Child Benefit for. We use qualifying young person to mean a person aged 16, 17, 18 or 19 who you are getting Child Benefit for.

Is one of you aged 18 or over and born after 28 October 1947?

Do you and your partner want to claim income-based Jobseeker's Allowance?

If you or your partner work, is it for less than 16 hours a week?

Are you and your partner both under pension age?

YES: If the answer to all these questions is Yes, you must usually make a joint claim.

NO: If you answer No to any of these questions, you and your partner do not have to make a joint claim. You do not have to fill in the parts of the form that say

More about Your partner if this is a joint claim

But you must still answer all the other questions that apply to your partner.

If you have a partner but you are not making a joint claim

Your partner may need to have a Work Focused Interview if:

- you are not making a joint claim, and
- you have been getting income-based Jobseeker's Allowance for 26 weeks or more.

We may reduce your benefit if your partner does not take part in their Work Focused Interview without good reason. If they take part at a later date, this reduction will stop from that date.

Notes 4: More information

Help with housing costs

If you claim income-based Jobseeker's Allowance and have:

- a mortgage
- a home loan, or
- other housing costs, for example, ground rent or certain service charges

you may be able to get more money towards the interest payments or other housing costs.

To claim Housing Benefit complete form HCTB1 and send it to your local council. To apply for a reduction in Council Tax contact your local council direct.

If you claim contribution-based Jobseeker's Allowance

You may still be able to get help with rent and/or council tax from your local council. Fill in Housing Benefit form HCTB1 and send it to your local council. To apply for a reduction in Council Tax contact your local council direct.

If you think you will need help with housing costs because you have a mortgage or home loan you will need to claim income-based Jobseeker's Allowance. Ask about this when you make your claim.

Under the Support for Mortgage Interest rules which came in on 5 January 2009 for new claims, if you get help with your housing costs as part of your Jobseeker's Allowance, we will only pay your housing costs for up to a maximum of two years. Ask Jobcentre Plus for more information.

If you are worried about your mortgage you can contact the National Homelessness Advice Service. You can get a leaflet from their website at www.nhas.org.uk/publications.htm

For more information and advice about mortgages go to the Money Advice Service website at www.moneyadviceservice.org.uk

If you claim by phone

You will not need to fill in form HCTB1. We will send you a statement of your circumstances. If you want to claim Housing Benefit you must sign this statement and send it back to us. We will send your details to your local council.

If you or your partner are ill

If either you or your partner have an illness or disability, you may wish to claim Employment and Support Allowance. If you have made a joint claim for Jobseeker's Allowance, the person who is sick may not have to meet certain Jobseeker's Allowance conditions.

If you are

- a European Economic Area (EEA) or European Union (EU) citizen, and
- not a British National

ask us how your illness may affect your right to reside in the United Kingdom.

If you want more information get in touch with Jobcentre Plus.

Child Tax Credit

You cannot claim an increase of benefit for children or qualifying young persons, but you can claim Child Tax Credit instead. To find out more about Child Tax Credit visit www.hmrc.gov.uk

You can also phone HM Revenue & Customs about Child Tax Credit on 0345 300 3900. If you have speech or hearing difficulties you can contact them using a textphone on 0345 300 3909.

Lines are open 8am–8pm Monday to Friday, 8am–4pm Saturday and closed Sundays, Christmas Day, Boxing Day, New Year's Day. If you need help or a form in Welsh, please phone 0300 200 1900. Lines are open 8.30am–5pm Monday to Friday.

Part 17: How we pay you

We normally pay your money into an account.

Many banks and building societies will let you collect your money at the post office.

We will tell you when we will make the first payment and how much it will be for. We will tell you if the amount we pay into the account is going to change.

Finding out how much we have paid into the account

You can check your payments on account statements. The statements may show your National Insurance (NI) number next to any payments we have made. If you think a payment is wrong, get in touch with the office that pays you straight away.

If we pay you too much money

We have the right to take back any money we pay that you are not entitled to. This may be because of the way the payment system works.

For example, you may give us some information, which means you are entitled to less money. Sometimes we may not be able to change the amount we have already paid you. This means we will have paid you money that you are not entitled to.

We will contact you before we take back any money.
